

Contents

Editor's Preface v

ESSAYS

"I felt to praise God for it": The Power of Suffering in Mary Rankin's Daughter of Affliction 1

Robin L. Cadwallader

The Eucharistic Speech Act: Church Authority, Pastoral Power, and the Work of Salvific Eros in George Herbert's "Love III" 25

Willis Salomon

The Unforgivable Sin in Tennessee Williams's
A Streetcar Named Desire 49

Michael Karounos

"Who Cares?" On Caritas and a Case for Christian Naturalism
in Rebecca Harding Davis's "The Promise of the Dawn" 79

LuElla L. D'Amico

Images of the Prodigal: The Moral Didactics of William Dean Howells in The Rise of Silas Lapham 103

Christopher E. Garrett

Walker Percy and Friends, the Church, and His Hero-Saint,
Thomas More 121

Thomas Hubert

Preserving Their "Womanly Ways": The Story of a Wild Woman, a Spinster, and a Memorizer 151

Judith Musser

CRITICAL REVIEW ESSAYS

When the Shoah Becomes the Sacred 173
Timothy L. Parrish

Mapping Futures: A Dialogue on Mormon Literary Studies 193
Michael Austin and John Bennion

PERSONAL ESSAY

Moon Jar 221
Amy Lee Scott

POETRY

Obligations 47
Stephen Kampa

Purple Martin Houses 149
Robert Cording

Complacency Fugue 171
Stephen Kampa

Long After Horace 236
Stephen Kampa

Contributors 238